Market Rabbit Basics

Step 1. Purchasing Market Rabbits or Buying rabbits for breeding your own doe.

- You now may purchase market rabbits instead of breeding your own doe. Members may choose to breed their own rabbits and should follow steps 2-4. If you are purchasing market rabbits, they should be born between June 20th and July 1st the year of the fair.
- When buying rabbits buy a trio. A trio consists of 1 buck and two does. They must be at least 6 months old to breed them. Most judges prefer a white market rabbit: New Zealand or Californian are good examples. Other breeds are considered commercial/meat quality – please see the Rabbit Resource Book, pages 11-26.

Step 2. Breeding rabbits.

- Take the doe to the buck's cage. Do not go off and leave the rabbits alone. Breed at least 2 does in case one wouldn't take. May have better success if your doe has had a litter before, but not required. Need to breed does from May 23 – June 3. It is important to keep track of the date bred.

Step 3. Ready for babies.

- The gestation period lasts from about 28-35 days. Therefore it is important to keep track of when your does were bred so you know what their due dates are. Make a nesting box for the doe to have her babies in – see page 39 of the Rabbit Resource Book. It should be big enough for the doe to turn around in but not extra big. You need to put the nesting box in on day 28 of the gestation period. But before you put the box in you should put some absorbent material such as straw, pine wood shavings, or shredded paper in the box. Place the box in a clean corner of the cage and make sure she has plenty of food and water for the next couple of days.

Step 4. Their first week of life.

- The doe should pluck her own fur to keep the babies warm but remove extra fur if it's a warm summer. Don't bother the doe while she's having the babies but make sure she has plenty of water. Before handling the babies, pet the doe so you have her scent. If there are babies alive on the wire replace them in the box right away. Later check for dead or deformed babies so that they may be removed from the nesting box. Check nesting box daily. Give doe unlimited feed and water for her milk.

Step 5. Next few weeks...

- They should get some fur by day 2 and will open eyes about day 10. Save the cleaner fur but replace the absorbent material to keep the babies from getting diseases if the nesting box becomes too soiled. Between days 14 and 21 you will remove the nesting box. Rabbits should be weaned by 60 days – see page 69 in the Rabbit Resource Handbook.
- Keep plenty of feed and fresh water available for the babies
- Keep rabbits in a shaded area away from the summer heat. Frozen water bottles are a good way to keep rabbits cool on a hot summer day
- Weights need to be recorded and monitored regularly. Fair weight is a minimum of 3 1/2 lbs. and a maximum of 5 1/2 lbs
- You are responsible to get your own buyer
- Rabbits are to be kept fed and watered throughout each day of the Fair
